DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-4, 7-10, 13, 15, and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nakayama et al (5, 575,247). Nakayama et al show everything except a throttle hose portion. It would have been prima facie obvious to substitute a throttle body for a combination throttle body and hose, since the throttle body of Nakayama et al serves the function of connecting the throttle valve to both the air filter and the intake manifold in exactly the same way that the combination throttle body and hose of the instant invention does, and the combination provides no advantages over the throttle body alone. Note also that "an express suggestion to substitute one equivalent for another is not necessary to render such substitution obvious." See MPEP 2144.06.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 3747

Claims 14, 16, 18, and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Nakayama et al (5,575,247) or Kargilis (6,273,048).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 5, 6, 11, 12, and 17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
